Central California Medical School Recruitment Fair Draws Colleges from Around the Country

CLOVIS, Calif. – Osteopathic medical schools from across the country are coming to the Central Valley in California for a Medical School Recruitment Fair on October 15, 2026.

California Health Sciences University College of Osteopathic Medicine (CHSU-COM) and the American Association of Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine (AACOM) are partnering to host the first Medical School Recruitment Fair at the medical school campus in Clovis.

"We are very proud that osteopathic medical education has been resonating with prospective students as we've seen applications increase over the last few years," said AACOM President and CEO Robert A. Cain, DO. "Occasions like this help us connect with students and allow them to get a better sense of what their osteopathic medical education journey will look like. I'm very pleased so many of our schools are participating and thank CHSU-COM for hosting this important event."

Students interested in medical school can connect with admissions representatives and medical students while exploring about 20 different programs. The participating Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine include:

- Arizona College of Osteopathic Medicine of Midwestern University
- Arkansas College of Osteopathic Medicine
- Baptist Health Sciences University College of Osteopathic Medicine
- Burrell College of Health Sciences School of Osteopathic Medicine

About AACOM

Founded in 1898, the American Association of Colleges of Osteopathic Medicine (AACOM) is the leading voice for the education and training of physicians who practice osteopathic medicine in settings across the medical spectrum—from primary care to the full range of medical specialties. We support our member colleges of osteopathic medicine in their efforts to attract and train individuals who are fueled by a desire to make a difference in our healthcare system by treating the whole person and building a future emphasizing health and wellness for all people. Today, more than 38,000 future physicians—close to 30 percent of all U.S. medical students—are being educated at one of our 48 accredited colleges of osteopathic medicine, encompassing 75 teaching locations in 36 states.
