Creating a healthier future together.

California Health Sciences University (CHSU) graduates will help alleviate the Central Valley's health care provider shortage by training and retaining our next generations of clinicians. From inside local hospitals to behind the pharmacy counter, and even in the doctor's office, CHSU Pharmacists and future graduates from the proposed College of Osteopathic Medicine and additional schools to come are the future of our primary care.

Many CHSU students come from local areas and are a reflection of the Central Valley's great diversity. The majority are "home grown" with deep roots and have a passion to elevate the health of our region – their home. Many are first in their family to obtain a college degree and without the existence of CHSU or the financial assistance from the scholarship fund, a significant number would not have the opportunity to obtain professional degrees in health care.

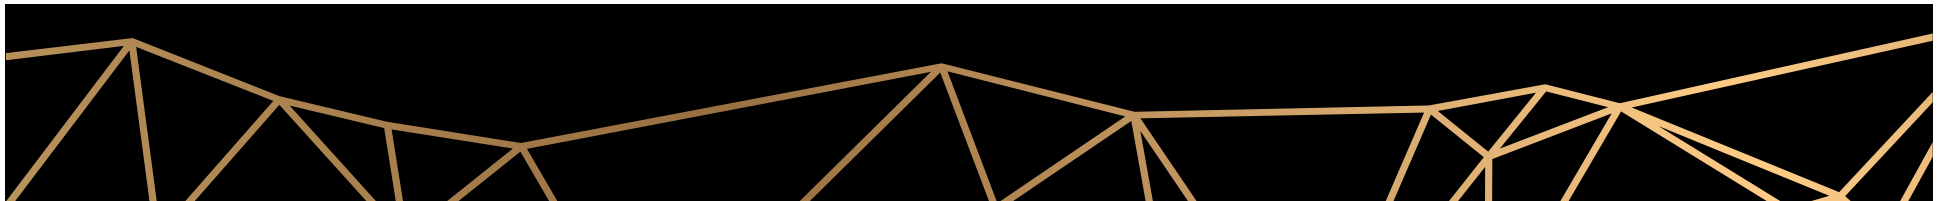

Thank you for investing in CHSU students through your gifts to the California Health Sciences University Scholarship Fund.
